

HOUSE REJECTED GARNER'S REPEAL AMENDMENT

BODY OF HARVEY TUTTLE IS FOUND IN RIVER SUNDAY

Had Been Missing From Home Here Since Last Tuesday

The body of Harvey Tuttle, for many years a resident of Dixon, was found in Rock river about five miles west of Dixon yesterday afternoon by William King of Sterling and Robert Smith of Rock Falls, who were hiking on the farm owned by Edward Miller of Milledgeville at a point about 500 feet east of the Yates-Glassburn cottage. The two young men observed an object floating about 20 feet from shore but could not identify it as a body. King, thinking that it was an old metal can, fired his 22 caliber rifle at the object. The two young hikers proceeded east a short distance, then returned to make a further investigation and discovered that the object in the water was the body of a man.

It was with some difficulty that they succeeded in dragging the body, which was held by a snag, to the shore and King went to the Robert Hoyle home on the River road and notified local authorities, who went to the scene and had the body removed to the Preston mortuary. Coroner F. M. Banker of Franklin Grove conducted an inquest at 10:30 this morning. State's Attorney Edward Jones, conducting his first official act in the office, by examining the witnesses.

Tuttle had resided in a shack near the foot of Sherman avenue on the south side of the river and for the past few weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sterner have been spending their honeymoon, living with him.

At the inquest this morning Mrs. Sterner stated that Tuttle left his shack last Tuesday afternoon about 4:20, going down the river in his boat. She was at home at the time and Tuttle locked her in the building, saying that he would return shortly and would be absent but a few days. Her husband had gone shopping, she said, and Tuttle locked the building, putting the keys in his pocket. She said that she saw him row away and start down the river. This was the last seen of Tuttle until the finding of the body Sunday afternoon.

His boat has not been found and one of his hip boots was missing when the body was discovered. Otherwise he was fully clothed. There were several abrasions on the face but these were believed to have been sustained when the body was washed overboard in the water.

Mrs. Clara Switzer, residing west of the city on Cropsey avenue, testified before the inquest that she reported to Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber late Saturday night, the fact that Tuttle was missing and had been gone for several days and asked that an investigation be started. Chief Van Bibber went to the Tuttle shack Sunday morning but was not admitted by Mr. and Mrs. Sterner, who at the inquest this morning, testified that they were asleep.

Verdict of Accident While there were rumors of possible foul play, following the finding of the body, no evidence was brought out at the inquest to substantiate these reports. According to those who testified and who had known Tuttle for some time, he was not known to have any money and was well liked by all who knew him. A verdict of accidental death by drowning in Rock river was returned by the jury.

Tuttle had been a resident of Dixon for years and had many relatives living in this vicinity, but none were present at the inquest this morning. His wife preceded him in death several months ago. No arrangements have been made for the funeral pending further investigation by State's Attorney Jones.

Report On Funds For Relief Work

At the opening session of the board of supervisors this morning a lengthy discussion took place relating to the amount of gasoline tax available in Lee county for relief purposes. Chairman L. D. Hemenway of the road and bridge committee reported to the board the amount of $13,993.98 for the quarter of July to October 1. Of this amount, he explained, $4,398.03 was necessary to be expended for the completion of work on the spur system, leaving a balance of $9,595.95 which is now available. Chairman Hemenway of the road and bridge committee told the board that he estimated the county would receive approximately $4,000 monthly for the last quarter of the present year which would make a total of about $12,000 to be added to the amount now available and to be ready for use by the various townships of the county as needed for relief.

Supervisor H. A. Knecht of Paw Paw presented a motion in which he asked that a committee be named to audit the gas tax fund monthly and to have jurisdiction in the matter of using this fund for relief purposes.

Terse Items Of News Gathered In Dixon During Day

HOSPITAL BOARD
There will be a meeting of the board of the Dixon Public Hospital Tuesday morning at 9:30 at the Nurses Home.

He holds a reserve commission in the grade of Major and is attached to the 331st Infantry as regimental chaplain.

SCRIP IS USED SUCCESSFULLY IN OHIO TOWN

Yale Economist Gives Endorsement To Wieldy Plan

Yellow Springs, O., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Scrip is in successful operation in this farming area and business is thriving on it.

Dr. Irving Fisher of Yale recently visited Yellow Springs to study the system. He endorsed it. It works like this:

A farmer possessing 100 bushels of potatoes, but no cash, wants a carpenter to repair his barn. The carpenter, perhaps otherwise unemployed, is willing to take his pay in commodities, rather than cash, but doesn't want exclusively potatoes.

So the farmer sells his potatoes to the "exchange" which pays him in scrip, the farmer then hires the carpenter, paying wages with this scrip, and the carpenter spends the scrip at the exchange, buying potatoes or other things he needs. If either the carpenter or the farmer has some scrip left over, he can keep it indefinitely and spend it any time he wants to.

Theoretically at least, this scrip or other like it might by common consent be used instead of money in all ordinary business dealings in this or a much larger territory. What the limits of practicability may be have not been determined.

Preacher Embarks As Newspaperman

Rev. E. Y. Knapp of this city, former pastor of the Oregon M. E. church, who was granted leave of absence by the recent Rock River Conference in this city, has purchased the Lanark Gazette and will take possession Jan. 1, before which date he and his wife will move to Lanark, where he held a pastorate for six years and where they are both popular. Rev. and Mrs. Knapp lived in Carroll county for eighteen years, and regard it as their home. They many friends will wish them success in the new venture.

Frank E. Ackert Died This Morn

Frank E. Ackert passed away at his home, 212 E. Boyd street, at 9:30 o'clock this morning after a long illness. Arrangements for the funeral, at which friends will be asked to omit flowers, had not been made this afternoon, and they with the obituary, will be published later.

ARNOLD IS SENT TO REFORMATORY FOR HIS CRIME

Chicago Judge Fixes the Punishment At One To 14 Years

Chicago, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Sixteen-year-old Charles Bertram Arnold, Jr., was sentenced to serve one to 14 years in Pontiac reformatory today for killing his step-grandmother, Mrs. Ellen O. Saxe.

The 16-year-old boy reared in a home of culture and refinement, and with other advantages that exist for most youths in story books only, today prepared to take his place in an Illinois penal institution with other criminals of the state.

Killed 17 Days Ago
"Bert," as he was known among his school mates at the suburban Riverside high school, committed his crime just 17 days ago. Eighteen days ago he was classified as a "model" youth. Today as he prepared to face Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal Court for sentencing he is looked upon as one of those baffling mysteries that fill the criminal records.

Psychiatrists have examined him and testified he was emotionally sick and overcome by an uncontrollable rage when his grandmother slapped him—rage that led him to beat her to death with a hammer and then throw her body in a cistern.

"Bert" himself told authorities after his arrest several days later at Chadwick, Ill., that he simply had to have the car that night as he had promised to take friends to the dance, which he did. He said he left the dance early to return home to take the body from the kitchen floor where it lay to the cistern.

The youth pleaded guilty to murder but it was the week-end problem of Judge Prystalski to decide whether to sentence him on a murder charge or soften it to manslaughter.

Manslaughter carries a one to 14-year sentence and might be served, attorneys said, in the Pontiac reformatory. A minimum murder sentence is 14 years at the Joliet penitentiary.

Former Dixonite In Toils Of Law

The home of Lorton Bowman, formerly of Dixon and near Waukegan, at 607 Eighth avenue, Sterling, was raided by Deputy Sheriff Byrum of Whiteside county and Chief of Police Curtis Bucher of Sterling Saturday evening on a warrant charging possession of intoxicating liquor. It is reported a small amount of alcohol was found on the premises. Bowman was held to the Whiteside county grand jury under bonds of $1,500, which were furnished.

The average full-grown grizzly bear is nine feet long.

GREATEST NEED FOR ACTION BY GOOD FELLOWS

Many Children Here Doomed To Slim Christmas

Never in the history of Dixon has there been such great numbers of children who will need help to have a happy Christmas. There are approximately 400 families in this city who are in destitute circumstances.

Times are different with a great many people but most of us can spare a little money to help bring Christmas cheer into the homes of our neighbors who have been so unfortunate.

Every cent that is donated to the Goodfellow Club will be spent for Christmas presents for poor children in this city. There is no overhead charge of any kind.

If you want to help some poor family or even just one youngster to a cheerful Christmas, send or bring your donations to the Goodfellow Club care of the Dixon Evening Telegraph.

Alleged Tobacco Thieves Arrested

Earl Marks, residing east of Paw Paw, has been very successful in the growing of tobacco, but recently he missed some of the plants which were in the drying process in an improvised tobacco shed at his farm. He took up a trail of broken leaves which led to the direction of a house about a half-mile northeast of Paw Paw, when he discovered a heavy loss Saturday morning, and accordingly went to Paw Paw where he procured a search warrant from Justice Tarr.

Deputy Sheriff Lee Coss was handed the paper and went to the dwelling suspected where he found the allegedly stolen tobacco. L. E. Harvel and two sons, Burnett and Louis were placed under arrest and taken before Justice Tarr who held them to the January grand jury. They were brought to Dixon Saturday night in default of bonds and lodged in the county jail.

While searching the premises for the stolen leaf tobacco, the deputy is reported to have found a crudely constructed still in the basement of the house, which was also dismantled.

Seeks New Trial In Stone Co. Case

Chicago, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Attorney James Westcott said a new trial would be asked on Dec. 23 by the seven officials of the defunct H. O. Stone & Co., convicted in Federal Court of charges of using the mails to defraud.

Should Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward deny their plea, Westcott said his clients would beg for clemency in the form of probation instead of prison terms. If both fail he said the case would be taken to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

In the opposing camp Federal authorities today were hailing the conviction of President Henry P. Norcott and six of his associates in the failure of the realty company with a $14,000,000 loss to investors.

The verdict, it was pointed out by government attorneys, indicated the effectiveness of the mail fraud statute against illegal financing.

Others besides Norcott, who faces sentences of possibly five years and $10,000 fines on each of 33 counts on which they were convicted, include Harold D. Bennett, Charles P. Packer, Jr., W. Scott Carroll, Leslie A. Needham, Marshall W. George and David A. Coleman.

Texas Motor Truck Law Upheld Today

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Texas statute regulating motor vehicles operating under private contract was sustained today by the Supreme Court.

This decision was handed down in a case brought by J. H. Stephenson and others challenging such regulation by the state Railroad Commission.

The Texas act requires contract motor carriers to obtain permits from the commission. These can be issued only after the commission has determined the operations of the contract carriers will not impair the efficient public service of a common carrier then adequately serving the territory.

The commission also is required to prescribe minimum rates, fares and charges.

Hotels Depend On Return Of Lager

Freeport, Ill., Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Illinois Hotel Association declared yesterday beer must be brought back if the hotels of the nation are to survive.

The declaration came at the annual convention as part of the preamble of a resolution in which all members were directed to urge repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment on their Senators and Congressmen and a $50 monthly contribution to anti-prohibition work was ordered.

The association disapproved the five day week and six-hour day as applied to the hotel business. The Hotel Greeters' Association, meeting jointly, endorsed the hotel group's vote.

Christmas Customs for FOREIGN LANDS

In Spain, before the family sets out for church on Christmas Eve, children place their shoes in rows on the balcony with straw and grain in them for the horses of the Three Kings, so that the steeds may not go hungry while the Magi are worshiping at the manger. Returning from church, the children find the Three Kings have left toys, candy and coins in the little shoes.

17 SHOPPING DAYS UNTIL CHRISTMAS

PROF. EINSTEIN'S ANGER AROUSED BY QUESTIONING

Declined To Submit To An "Inquisition" By American Consul

Berlin, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Albert Einstein, Germany's most famous professor, stood like a schoolboy today before an American consular official who asked him rudimentary questions concerning pacifism, communism and anarchism.

The professor took the questioning meekly for a while, then he reared up in all of his professional dignity and declined to be put through what he considered to be a sort of third degree.

The occasion was his application for a visa for his impending trip to the United States. After the incident he issued an ultimatum to the Consulate, declaring that if he failed to receive the visa within 24 hours he would not go to America.

Ordinarily a visa is granted to a foreigner without his moving a finger. This time was not exceptional, but recently the State Department at Washington forwarded a demand by the Woman's Patriot Corporation that the famous scientist be barred from the United States on the ground that he is a Communist.

"What party do you belong to or sympathize with?" he asked. The professor, not comprehending the significance of the proceedings, asked what the Consul was driving at.

"You see," said that official, "when persons applying for visas hold certain political beliefs it is difficult if not impossible to grant the visa. For instance, are you a Communist or an Anarchist?"

Patience Broke
Prof. Einstein's patience broke, rising abruptly his usually genial face stern and his normally melodious voice strident, he cried: "What's this, an inquisition? Is this an attempt at chicanery? I don't propose to answer such silly questions."

"I didn't ask you to go to America. Your countrymen invited me, yes, begged me. If I am to enter your country as a scientist I don't want to go at all. If you don't want to give me a visa please say so, then I'll know where I stand. But don't ask me humiliating questions."

Frau Einstein, who accompanied him to the Consul's office, suggested the Consul refer to President Hoover, Ambassador Frederic M. Sackett, former Ambassador Jacob Gould Schurman or the Californian scientists with whom her husband has worked.

The more she thought about it the more indignant she became and after she and the Professor got home she telephoned the Consul that she must know by 11 o'clock tomorrow morning that the visa has been granted, or she will notify the American scientists who invited her husband to the United States that the engagement is off.

HUNGER STRIKE DENIED

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Miss Maria Leonard, Dean of Women at the University of Illinois, denied today that coeds in the West Residence Hall had gone on a "hunger strike" in protest against the food served and the reported ban on dancing in the hall. She said the dancing privilege continues, the report apparently having grown from a request that girls roll up parlor rugs for dancing. Miss Leonard Gradow, house manager, said the coeds are allowed to tell what dishes they desire.

MARCHERS KEPT AT OUTSKIRTS OF WASHINGTON

Demonstrators Under Constant Guard Of Police Force

BULLETIN
Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Vice President Curtis today said he would receive a delegation of not to exceed three members from the demonstrators gathered here.

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP)—As Congress met today in a heavily guarded Capitol, the army of demonstrators who descended upon the city last night were still bottled up by bluecoats on a short stretch of pavement in the outskirts.

Fretting and fuming under police restraint, the motley throng once drew up in marching order, took a long red banner and headed for the solid masses of police.

But when the blue ranks tightened to meet them, the leaders turned aside and jeered the police for their precaution.

Lawyers representing the hunger marchers meanwhile made little headway in efforts to invoke the law as a means of releasing the group from its pavement camp and permitting the demonstrators to march to the Capitol in accordance with their plans to demand $50 each and enactment of unemployment insurance.

300 Police On Hand
Just before noon, the hour for Congress to convene, upward of 150 more police appeared at the camp, apparently to block any effort to rush the lines. There were then some 300 armed police on hand, confronting the marchers estimated by authorities at 2,500 or more.

On three sides strong lines of bluecoats effectively hemmed them in, blocking their way to the Nations Capitol to which they had made plans for a protest march to demand relief from Congress.

It was this police action which members of the league of professional groups denounced in saying they had retained attorneys to seek an injunction in the District of Columbia Supreme Court to prevent authorities from interfering with the "constitutional" right of the visitors to "peacefully assemble" and petition Congress.

The demonstrators converged on Washington in three caravans yesterday and the dawn that broke slowly through heavy clouds found them still plinned in the stretch of street in which they were shunted on arrival. Two or three hundred women among them however, were allowed during the night to go to homes of friends and sympathizers in the city and several who became ill were sent to hospitals.

Complained Bitterly
Stretching arms and legs cramped, the marchers complained bitterly of their treatment but agreed they were helpless before police strategy.

Police were massed ahead, behind and through a cord of woods on one side. A bank leading sharply down to the Pennsylvania Railroad yards was on the other side. Some of the groups under police surveillance had traveled hundreds of miles. The dome of their goal—the Capitol—was in sight but it seemed unlikely they would get there in mass formation.

Non-plussed by police preparations, leaders as they tried to meet the situation, counseled restraint to their followers and several times ordered back unruly members who talked of a rush on police lines.

Aged Insurance Supervisor Dead

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Robert E. Daly, one of the oldest United States insurance supervisors in Illinois, died here today, having served the state of Illinois in that capacity the last two years died here early today after several months illness from heart disease.

Daly was born in Marseilles, Illinois of a pioneer family of LaSalle county. He served the states of Oklahoma, Texas and Missouri as Insurance Supervisor before coming here in 1930 as Superintendent of Examiners of the state Division of Insurance. For years past, he had served on important committees at national convention of insurance commissioners. He is survived by his wife, Funeral service and interment will be at Milan, Missouri Wednesday afternoon.

Reynolds Home Is Saddened By Death

Jerome Edward Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Reynolds, passed away at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Reynolds, 1037 Highland avenue Sunday evening at 10 o'clock, at the age of five years, one month and 29 days. He is survived by his parents, five brothers, John, James, George, Robert and his twin brother Gerald and four sisters, Margaret, Mary, Catherine, Ann and Esther Mae. Funeral services will be conducted from the family home Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and from St. Patrick's Catholic church at 9:30 with interment in Oakwood.

U. S. Prosecutor Failed To Find Joy In Victory

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Louis Mead Treadwell isn't the kind of a prosecutor who gloats over victory.

He is only 29 years old and his first big victory at law came Saturday when he successfully prosecuted Conrad H. Mann, Frank E. Hering and Bernard C. McGuire of violating federal lottery laws. It left him a little sad.

It was conceded to be a difficult case and the youthful prosecutor had arrayed against him some of the best legal talent in the country. Single-handed, he was against Max D. Steuer, who has been known to get a thousand dollars a minute for courtroom appearance; General Albert Ottinger, former New York Attorney-General, and one-time Republican candidate for Governor; and Robert Proctor, Clyde Taylor, Joseph Kelley, Albert Swigger, all lawyers of long experience.

He applied himself assiduously to the job of prosecuting, but with a fairness that even the defendants commented upon. He pointed no fingers and derided no evils and he told the jury he didn't want to send anybody to jail, that his only interest was to lay material facts before them.

When the jury returned its verdict, he was sorry for the men he convicted, especially for Mann, the grey-headed president of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce. "I don't believe I can stand what this is doing to him," he said. That was his one and only passionate outburst during the trial, and it was said under his breath.

SECRET CRIME-FIGHTING BAND SHORT OF MONEY

Future Of Secret Six Will Be Decided By Directors Soon

Chicago, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Officials of the "Secret Six," Chicago's famous extra-legal crime-fighting organization, admitted today that its financial condition jeopardizes its existence.

Alexander Jamies, its Chief Investigator, said "times have changed" since the days when "we had all the money we needed."

"Heretofore it was unnecessary to consider that matter," he said. There also was the doubtful attitude of State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, newly elected Democrat, whose predecessor originated the "Secret Six" and then became its bitterest critic.

Business men whose contributions have sustained the "Secret Six" for three years met today to consider ways and means of continuing it. Some have declined to carry the burden further.

The organization drew a setback last week when three of its officials were convicted of malicious prosecution of William Kuhn Jr., arrested by them on a charge of writing extortion letters. The charge was dropped but Kuhn sued for $100,000 and was awarded $30,000.

Robert Isham Randolph, head of the "Secret Six" said its destiny would be decided at a meeting of 35 directors next week. There is enough money to operate for another year.

State Senate Is Called To Session

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Lt. Gov. Fred E. Sterling, president of the Senate, has wired all Senators to reassemble here Wednesday morning to act on the Branson bill, passed by the House, which would permit Building & Loan Associations to borrow up to twenty-five per cent of their assets.

This would permit them to take advantage of federal aid through the Home Loan Bank.

The Illinois General Assembly is due to reconvene here tomorrow but as yet leaders have not decided whether to have the members of the lower House return or merely hold a perfunctory session.

When the legislators returned to their homes Nov. 23, it was with the understanding that tomorrow's session would be perfunctory in nature unless an emergency in the unemployment situation developed which required additional legislation.

If it is decided to hold a perfunctory session tomorrow another recess will probably be taken, as legislative leaders are on record as opposing sine die adjournment for fear an unemployment emergency might arise.

Former Chief Of Police Arrested

Richard Dwyer, former Galena chief of police, was arrested Saturday afternoon by department of Justice agents on a charge of violation of the prohibition law in an establishment in lower Main street. A quantity of alcohol was seized in the raid. Dwyer will be given a hearing by Commissioner T. E. White at Ottawa, Ill.

PROPOSAL FAILS TO GET NEEDED TWO-THIRDS VOTE

Change Of Six Votes Would Have Adopted Repeal Measure

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The House today rejected the Garner resolution for prohibition repeal.

The vote rejecting repeal was 271 for repeal and 144 against. A two-thirds majority vote was necessary for approval of the resolution, and the necessary margin not having been attained, the proposal was turned down.

Inasmuch as Speaker Garner has said he would not permit another vote on repeal at this session, the vote was believed to have killed the question at least until the new Congress meets.

The resolution had support from the Republican leadership, Snell of New York favoring it although he denounced the form. He had predicted that, if it were adopted the Senate would amend it with reservations against the saloon and for protection of dry states.

Representative Michener (R.) of Michigan, immediately after the vote asked the Speaker "if he will consider a similar resolution brought up in the regular manner."

To Decide At Time
"The chair will decide that when it's brought up," Garner replied.

It was not clear from this whether the Vice President-elect was wavering from his declaration or a few days ago not to allow another vote, but in the absence of any assurance by him to the contrary, the expectation was he would stick to his announced intentions.

The proposal was defeated by a narrow margin. A change of six votes would have brought about adoption of repeal.

A dusty chair went up from the dry section of the House when Speaker Garner announced that "two-thirds not having voted, the resolution is lost." The bill won its first vote when a teller's vote showed 245 members in favor of a second.

The Democratic leadership plans to go ahead with its program to legalize beer for the purpose of imposing a tax.

The Vice President-elect was severely scored by dries during the forty minutes of debate for invoking the drastic procedure of suspension of the rules to force the resolution to a vote. No amendments were permitted and the vote was for and against.

Once the vote was announced, confusion arose in the chamber, and Speaker Garner had difficulty in restoring order.

There was so much confusion that Representative Snell, the Republican leader, repeated several times a demand for order.

Representative McDuffie, the Democratic whip, then read a list of absent members who he said would have voted for the resolution if they had been present.

They were five Democrats: Brand of Georgia, Garrett of Texas, Martin of Oregon, Sanders of Texas and Hamor of West Virginia.

The Speaker first announced the vote at 2:27, but it developed that an absentee member had been recorded in favor by mistake.

Much of the opposition came from southern Democrats who were rejected to the next House.

Shortly after the vote, the House adjourned until tomorrow when it will listen to the President's annual message.

Floors and galleries alike were tense and crowded as Speaker Garner recognized the Democratic floor leader, Representative Rainey of Illinois, who offered repeal the measure.

Representative Christopherson (R., S. D.), demanded a second.

Representative Tarver (D., Ga.), objected, and a teller vote was ordered.

Christopherson and Rainey were appointed tellers.

This was not a record vote, and required a majority to grant the second demand.

Vote Was Assured
On the first count more than a majority—243—voted for the second, assuring a vote on repeal.

The vote on whether the repeal resolution would be seconded was 245 for to 121 against. Chairman Sumners of the Judiciary committee asked for extension of debate time, suggesting three hours, but Representative Dyer (R., Mo.), objected and debate was limited to 40 minutes.

Whitney Trio to Play Here Tonight

One of the outstanding concerts arranged for local music lovers by the Dixon Civic Music Assn. is the forthcoming recital by the Whitney Trio, which is to be presented at the M. E. church this evening at 8 o'clock.

The Whitney trio, which has gained an international reputation during the past few years, is composed of members of one family, two sisters and a brother. Norman Whitney plays the violin, Grace Whitney the cello, and Robert Whitney the piano. They are descended from a long line of distinguished musicians, broken by only one exception, a great-grandfather who was a famous Shakespearean actor in his day.

All of the Whitney children were taught to play the piano at the same time that they learned their A, B, C's and multiplication tables, and they had their first experience in ensemble playing when they performed six hand arrangements of popular classics which their mother selected for them. As they grew older they were encouraged to learn other instruments, also. Robert remained faithful to the piano, however, while his sisters began to devote themselves respectively to the violin and cello. In time they began to play trio arrangements of the melodies of Schubert, Brahms, and other composers, and in time they turned to the more exacting repertoire of chamber music. Before any of the players were out of their teens they had gained professional recognition and were supplying music for weddings, receptions, and other social functions.

In 1922, when radio programs were still in a stage of primary development, the Whitney Trio persuaded a leading Chicago radio station that there was a demand for regular chamber music recitals on the air. They were engaged and were a success from the start. Between radio engagements the Trio played from time to time in Chicago concert halls, and in 1926 they were engaged to appear as guest artists with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra at Ravinia Park.

Largely through the great following which they have developed as a result of their radio performances the Whitney Trio has recently been much sought after by local concert managers throughout the country, and this year the artists are fulfilling a long desire to make an extensive concert tour. The programs which the Trio will play on this tour will be comprised of masterpieces by Beethoven, Tschalkowsky, and other famous composers along with some of the lighter diversissements which have had the greater popularity with the radio audiences.

Christmas Party For E.R.B. Class

Members of the E. R. B. Class of St. Paul's Lutheran Bible school, their families and friends to the number of 60 were present Thursday evening at the church parlors to enjoy the annual Christmas dinner and program. The decorations used were in red and green of the holiday season. The tables were very pretty with red streamers and candles of the same color. The food was delicious and most attractively served.

A short business meeting was held preceding the program, at which time the class voted $15 to the Nachusa Home for Christmas. Miss Laura Long was appointed to take care of the cards and greetings to be sent to absent members and friends of the class at Christmas time.

The program followed, the platform having decorations of a gay little Christmas tree, bright with colored lights and tall red tapers lighted. Each number given was a double number. The program was:

Piano solo—Miss Edna Switzer.
Vocal solo—Mrs. Harry Wilson.
Musical number—The Auman orchestra.

The program was closed with an interesting talk and benediction given by Rev. Walter.

Miss Iva Mench had planned several games and these were much enjoyed by everyone. This brought to a close another delightful social affair of the E. R. B. Class. The committee in charge were Mrs. Corabel George, Mrs. Lottie Brooks, Mrs. Myrtle Fisher, Mrs. Mary Switzer, Mrs. Florence Stewart, Mrs. Emma Wilson and Mrs. Minnie Auman. They are to be congratulated upon the success of the evening.

ST. AGNES GUILD TO MEET FRIDAY

St. Agnes Guild will meet Friday afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Davies, 421 Peoria avenue.

NORTH SIDE BRIDGE CLUB TO MEET

The North Side Bridge Club will be entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Warner.

A Glamorous Gown in Black and Pink

Black to flatter your figure, pink to flatter your face, is the altogether enchanting combination in this glamorous hostess gown. In addition to the nappy union of colors, there is glamor in the cut of the garment.

Tight-fitting, sleek and alluring is the dull, surfaced black velvet gown itself. Graceful, feminine and original is the addition of pink crepe which makes a high front neckline and a couple of cascading drapes in the back.

As a matter of fact, the pink crepe seems to begin with the flowing drape that swishes off the left shoulder, continue around in front to make the cute front neckline, tuck under the right sleeve and flow on down the back stopping to be tucked under the black at the waistline and then continue to form a little train in the back.

The short tight sleeves of the black velvet and the unusual one-side low decollete in the back are two more points of interest. Both help to give this hostess gown something that in turn makes the woman who wears it romantic.

Drudgery Hands Are Unnecessary

Pale hands always make the poets rave.

They have been known to arouse a protective instinct in a hard-boiled modern male, too.

Certainly no woman is proud of red hands.

With winter in the offing, look to your hands' care if you crave compliments on them.

Big knuckles are a real handicap to beauty. However, there is no use being hand-conscious if you can do a lot to improve your hands' appearance.

First of all, massage your whole hand. Begin loosening up tense muscles at the wrist line. Then knead one hand with the other using some of the hand cream that is now on the market. You will find that this does something to bleach your hands, too. Its chief function is to soften and whiten them and if you are conscientious in your massage, your hands will show it.

Always use a hand brush when washing. This helps stir circulation and that is one thing your hands may need. Invest in some soft, mild fragrant soap and soak your hand in tepid water, never using it very hot. Use an astringent when you finish and even rub ice over them, when it is a special evening.

There are skin stabilizers on the market, which, when used every day, give your hands a smooth surface that will surprise and delight you, if you haven't been in the habit of taking care of your hands.

If you are a home-maker and you have callouses on your hands try using a soft pumice stone on them. Always cream afterwards to help soften up the callouses.

If you are conscious of cigarette stains take them off with cuticle remover. It's a great way to do it. Use cream afterwards for this remover, too.

Polished Nails
Antoine, the Paris hairdresser, recently appeared with his nails black and with gold under the edges of them.

Paris women have been seen at the Ritz with their nails enamelled brown or green to match their costumes.

American women, as a rule, react to such decadent taste.

But all women in smart circles, whatever color nail enamel they use, accent one style point that you should watch.

They all enamel their nails clear to the end these days. It gives the nails an elongated look. You can have them cut quite close gent when you finish and even rub ice over them, when it is a special evening.

There are skin stabilizers on the market, which, when used every day, give your hands a smooth surface that will surprise and delight you, if you haven't been in the habit of taking care of your hands.

If you are a home-maker and you have callouses on your hands try using a soft pumice stone on them. Always cream afterwards to help soften up the callouses.

If you are conscious of cigarette stains take them off with cuticle remover. It's a great way to do it. Use cream afterwards for this remover, too.

Polished Nails
Antoine, the Paris hairdresser, recently appeared with his nails black and with gold under the edges of them.

Paris women have been seen at the Ritz with their nails enamelled brown or green to match their costumes.

American women, as a rule, react to such decadent taste.

But all women in smart circles, whatever color nail enamel they use, accent one style point that you should watch.

They all enamel their nails clear to the end these days. It gives the nails an elongated look. You can have them cut quite close to the contour of the fingers' ends and this coloring right to the tip makes them look much longer.

When you want to be very glamorous for evening, you can put gold or silver under your nails to make them twinkle. Also I have mentioned and you probably have used the gold and silver enamel over the colored.

If you are doing your nails at home this winter and are having trouble with hang nails, there are two things you should look into.

First, some of the new manicure scissors are shaped with curved handles to facilitate cutting the right hand better. Moreover some of the nail snippers now come in small sizes making them very usable.

Second, there is a new nail bath out which softens the cuticle, eventually clears it up for you and at the same time oils the nail to prevent breaking. If you have brittle nails, this will be a boon to you. If you have a time managing your cuticle and trouble in putting it into place, this nail bath will do the trick for you.

There is a third device, a little electric manicure gadget, which smooths off the cuticle. It works a little like a dentist's tooth-cleaning machine. Only it is individual and many of the best manicurists are using it.

COOKIE JARS

By HELEN WELSHIMER

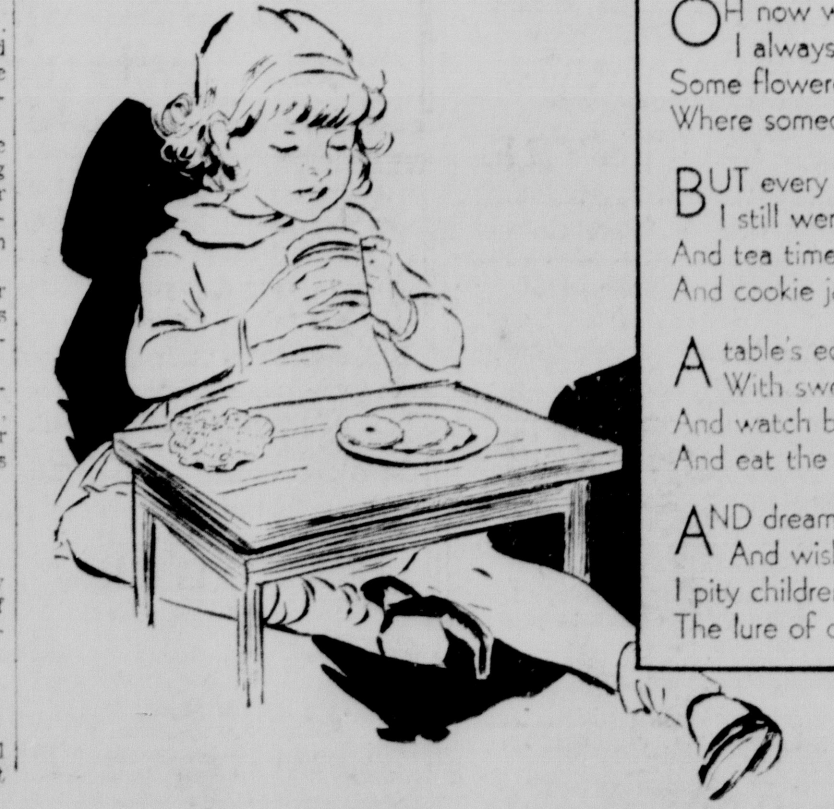

OH now when it is five o'clock
I always go to tea,
Some flowered, candlelight place
Where someone's meeting me.

BUT every now and then I wish
I still were eight or ten,
And tea time meant a pantry shelf
And cookie jar again;

A table's edge where I might sit
With sweet milk in a cup,
And watch blue dusk blow down the street,
And eat the cookies up;

AND dream some very secret dreams,
And wish on early stars—
I pity children who don't know
The lure of cookie jars!

Metal Doesn't Crystallize When Used Too Severely

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The common idea that metal "crystallizes" under too severe use was denied and a new concept of safety set up before the opening session of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers annual meeting today.

The leading American authority on "failures" and breaks in metal, Dr. H. F. Moore of the University of Illinois, said: "We do not believe that metal crystallizes under repeated stress, but it changes its properties, and then metal after many cycles of repeated stress may be either improved or damaged."

The idea of improving metal's strength with use was explained in terms of microscope pictures which showed exactly what happens. Like a man's muscles, metal can grow stronger with use.

Dr. Moore showed extremely minute cracks, not much more than the length of a few dozen placed under the strain of enormous molecules, opening in metal when straining in buildings, or machinery. When the strain was repeated he showed that the ends of the crack were "cold worked" by the pressure. Cold-worked means that the metal was pressed together at the crack ends, becoming stronger and harder, a sort of metal seal to prevent the crack from spreading further.

This increased strength is permanent but if the strain is made too great, the cold-worked ends of the cracks give way and then with repeated hard use the crack grows imperceptibly until the machine or the beam breaks.

Another of the legion of Shaw stories has it that he once missed his umbrella from the stand at his club. Subsequently he posted a notice in the hall requesting the nobleman who had removed his umbrella to replace it.

"Why do you say the nobleman?" asked a friend. "Isn't it rather crude sarcasm?"

"Not at all," answered Shaw. "The constitution of this club states that it is composed of 'noblemen and gentlemen.' He couldn't be a gentleman and remove my umbrella, could he?"—New York Morning Telegraph.

OUR LIBERTIES OR A PLAN—WHICH?

Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, wife of the New York banker, got to thinking the other day about the widely advertised plans by which Russia is trying to bring forth the ideal state; and it occurred to her, as it probably has to many another American, that Americans, if they put their minds to it, ought to be able to plan rings around such folks as the Russian Marxists.

"Certainly," she said, "it is within the power of the brains of the United States to form a workable plan. The Bolsheviks have a plan. They don't, they haven't and they can't humanly follow it. Well, why shouldn't we get a better plan? We can."

"The Bolshevik plan insists that every member of their very exclusive group give a definite number of hours a day to the party's program. Think what it would mean if every member of Tammany had that duty, and the party programs were planned for the benefit of all the people instead of just Tammany."

A good many of us, no doubt, have thought along the same lines of late. We have an abundance of brains in this land; we have all kinds of natural resources, mechanical skill and whatnot; why shouldn't we formulate a far-reaching program, to stick to it and provide ourselves with a depression-proof land in which poverty would be unknown?

Unfortunately, however, a plan isn't much good unless you have some way of putting it into effect; and to do this kind, you have to have a nation whose people are willing to surrender to the central government a far greater part of their individual liberties than Americans have ever dreamed of giving up.

And this, of course, only serves to illustrate our present dilemma. Our sufferings are to a great extent inherent in our traditional American system. Are we to keep the system, put up with its abuses and trust to luck that eventually we shall find some way out; or are we to modify the system, go in for planning and head for a less democratic but more prosperous era?

PATRIOTIC BLINDNESS.

The Woman Patriot Corporation, of which an excellent Massachusetts lady is president, has demanded of the American State Department that Prof. Albert Einstein be barred from the United States as an undesirable alien. It is recited that Professor Einstein is "affiliated with more anarchist and communist groups than Joseph Stalin himself"—which would seem, offhand, to be a record of some kind if it be true.

This little incident is supremely unimportant, of course, except that it provides such a perfect illustration of the complete blindness of the unenlightened super-patriot.

That Professor Einstein's presence in this country will bring the nation appreciably nearer to a revolution, no informed person believes. That the nation is honored by his presence, and will reap great benefits by the work he does here, is perfectly obvious.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS.

One of the most intelligent criticisms of high school athletic programs yet offered was voiced recently by Carl A. Jessen, education specialist in the Department of the Interior, in a speech at Atlantic City.

Mr. Jessen pointed out that the evil of "over-emphasis" in scholastic athletics is chiefly the fact that huge sums of money are spent to provide athletic recreation by a comparatively few pupils. High school football is a good game and the youngsters like it; but when a high school with a thousand or more students devotes much money and time to a football program in which only 20 or 30 boys can take part it is clear that something is out of balance.

This "over-emphasis" is harmful, not so much for its effect on the players themselves as for the indirect way in which it affects the boys who don't play at all.

As for the younger writers—I'm for 'em; Faulkner, Hemingway, Wolfe and the lads with words their grandfathers scribbled on fences. They can write!—William Allen White, editor, Emporia (Kan.) Gazette.

Who in hell would want to read my reminiscences?—U. S. Senator James E. Watson of Indiana.

How long with our social order sustain a condition where 11,000,000 to 15,000,000 are continually idle?—William Green, president, American Federation of Labor

I don't know whether I'm insane or not. We're all a little crazy—even you, judge.—Dallas Egan, Los Angeles bandit-slayer, when sentenced to gallows for murder.

Alas! With fleas as with men—artists grow scarcer!—"Professor" Hubert, producer of Broadway famous flea circus.

Every great individualist worthy of the name is a renegade.—Benjamin de Caceres, author.

The world is suffering from its sick hurry and it is reflected in its poetry as well as its prose.—Alfred Noyes.

As "Eastern Division" of the Hunger Army Neared Capital

They lived up to their name, did this group of hungry marchers when they sat down to lunch at Elizabeth, N. J. Food disappeared rapidly from the long tables. The group was enroute from New York City to Washington to tell Congress about their difficulties.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Were the republicans to decide and it is rumored they might, to put Senator Moses of New Hampshire in charge of their publicity forces during the coming democratic era, the game of politics would perhaps take on a new zip in the next four years.

For this witty, wisecracking New Englander, defeated last November in his attempt to return to the senate, could be expected to let loose in lively fashion.

He was a newspaperman before he became a senator and knows all the tricks of the game.

For many years Moses has been a recognized wit and satirist in the senate. He has in turn delighted, infuriated and cowed all those on "the hill" with his very sharp tongue and repartee.

What he could do in a job where these things count for lots, anyone familiar with politics at all can guess.

JOB TO HIS LIKING—

And there's some very good evidence, perhaps, that Moses would find such a job very much to his liking at the moment.

His defeat at the hands of the baseball, sports-loving Fred H. Brown, a democrat—although it was by the comparatively slim margin of 2,117 votes—left the senator smarting.

He is not the kind of a man who takes defeat easily. He had his heart set on another term in the senate and worked hard to realize that ambition.

That he doesn't feel altogether resigned and philosophical about it, perhaps, is evidenced by his information that he was a victim of "concerted treachery."

A GOOD OPPORTUNITY—

Considering all this, then, and also keeping in mind that Moses is the man who described his incoming republican brethren in the senate as "sons of the wild jack-ass" and has at other times lashed out with his tongue in telling fashion, what could he do in a job where he could employ his talents at will?

He is on record as having said that he expects to be active, "much more active than I ever thought in the near future."

POLO NEWS

By Kathryn Keagy

Polo—The W. R. C. held their annual election of officers Friday evening which resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. Mayme Enzler.
Sr. Vice Pres.—Mrs. Bernice A. Beard.
Jr. Vice Pres.—Mrs. Anna Anderson.
Conductor—Mrs. Nelmerette A. Sweet.
Guard—Mrs. Sylvia Myers.
Chaplain—Mrs. Ida Hannis.
Treasurer—Miss Anabelle McGrath.

Delegate to Convention—Miss Anabelle McGrath.

Alternate—Mrs. Anna Anderson.
Class No. 5 of the Methodist Sunday school held their annual Christmas party at the church on Friday. Mrs. Ray Reinert, Mrs. Swart and Mrs. A. D. Hanna were the hostesses. A lovely picnic dinner was enjoyed at noon. The business meeting followed after which Mrs. Hanna gave an interesting instrumental solo and Miss Tva Hanna gave a vocal number. Each member present donated food or money to be used in local relief work.

As Coppy painted houses he seemed just as happy as could be. "I love to make things look real bright," said he. "This is real fun."

"When things are dark it makes you blue. This town will be fine when we are through. Just think how all the houses soon will glisten 'neath the sun."

"You're right," replied a hoarse-voiced, "You're doing fine, and like as not the Weeland lads will pay you well for laboring like this."

"At least they will show you around this place and bring a broad smile to your face. There are a lot of things here that you will not want to miss."

Then Duncy said, "Oh, let me try my luck at painting. Really, I can swing a little paint brush around and do the job just right."

"All right," said Windy. "I feel tired, while you appear to be inspired. Now, please don't spill a bit of paint, or things will be a sight."

RAMBLERS AND PANTHERS BAR TROJANS' PATH

Victory Over Both Is Necessary To Win National Crown

New York, Dec. 5—(AP)—Through Notre Dame and Pittsburgh lies Southern California's path to the mythical national football championship.

Notre Dame at Los Angeles this Saturday, Pittsburgh in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena Jan. 2, is a thorny road for any team to travel but if Harvard and Jones Trojans can get through it without stumbling there will be few to dispute their right to retain the throne they won by force of arms last year. Not even Michigan or Colgate, two great undefeated arrays, could offer much in rebuttal in that event.

The current Trojan machine perhaps lacks some of the offensive power of the all-star 1931 eleven which spotted Notre Dame two touchdowns and then walloped the Ramblers, 16-14. But to offset this, it is stronger on the defense. So far the Trojans have won eight successive games and yielded sturdy opposition just 13 points.

Ramblers Real Test
Whether Notre Dame can pierce that line this week remains to be seen but certainly the Ramblers, on the basis of their magnificent showing against Army, have the weapons to test any defense to the utmost.

Pitt's only chance in figuring in the national title award lies in winning the Rose Bowl game but even then, the Panthers' scoreless ties with Nebraska and Ohio State might furnish Michigan and Colgate with good talking points. "The Rambler-Trojan clash is the only outstanding game of this week's schedule."

Last week's program was topped by Army's conquest of the Navy, 20-0; Auburn's disastrous 20-20 stalemate with South Carolina, and Alabama's intersectional triumph over St. Mary's Gaels, 6-0.

RAMBLERS HEAD WEST
Chicago, Dec. 5—(AP)—The pick of Notre Dame's football talent, 35 bucks young men filled with a burning desire for revenge, headed westward today to meet Southern California's Trojans at Los Angeles last Saturday.

There were traces of those familiar influenza cases in the party, but most of the ill and lame were on the mend, and Coach Hearty (Hunk) Anderson figured his biggest task en route would be to remove optimism generated by the Ramblers' triumph over Army. The getaway was scheduled for 10:30 this morning, with the first lap of the journey proper to start at 10:30 from Chicago. A 15 minute halt for mass was listed for 8:10 to morning at Bucklin, Kan., and the big break in the last trip will start at 1:15 Wednesday morning when the squad reaches Tucson, Ariz. The Ramblers will remain at Tucson for two days and will arrive in Los Angeles Friday night at 7:15.

Three of the most important influenza victims, Joe Kurth, All-American tackle; Jack Robinson, varsity center; and Steve Banaas, reserve fullback were named for the trip, although not in the best of condition.

CROWNING VICTORY
New York, Dec. 5—Army's decisive 20 to 0 victory over the Navy stands out today as the crowning achievement in the three-year regime of Major Ralph Irvine Sasse as head coach at West Point.

The war-time commander of a battalion of tanks leaves his post with the distinction of having directed three successive conquests of the Midshipmen, Yale, Harvard and Notre Dame, will not quickly forget the furious force of the major's campaigns.

Those who saw the bruised and bandaged squad of Cadet football players after their sensational victory before 79,000 spectators at Franklin Field realized they had been through a severe season, still feeling the effects of their beating the week before by Notre Dame. Their aching muscles, the heat and the Navy, however, could not keep this rugged outfit from achieving the triumph.

Big Ten Cagers Get Into Action

Chicago, Dec. 5—(AP)—Northwestern and Michigan will open their basketball schedules tonight, and by the end of the week, eight games will have been played by Big Ten teams.

Northwestern will open with Bradley Tech, which took a 42 to 25 mauling from Iowa Saturday night after losing by one point at half time. The Wolverines will meet a strong foe from Western State Teachers of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Minnesota got under way Saturday night, its veteran aggregation trouncing South Dakota, 46 to 26.

Michigan will meet Michigan State Saturday night at Ann Arbor, and Northwestern will tackle Marquette at Evanston, Ohio State and Indiana also are down for two games each, the Buckeyes meeting Toledo at Toledo Thursday and Ohio Wesleyan at Columbus Saturday. Indiana has Wabash at Bloomington Tuesday, and Cincinnati on Friday night.

Chicago opens with Lake Forest, Minnesota will entertain Grinnell, and Illinois meets Bradley Saturday night.

Midwestern Stars To Play On Coast
Chicago, Dec. 5—(AP)—Three 1932 All-American football stars from the midwest have accepted invitations from Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern to play in the annual Shrine Hospital benefit game at San Francisco on January 2.

The All-Americans are Paul Moss of Purdue, end; Joe Kurth of Notre Dame, tackle and Harry Newman of Michigan quarterback. Seven others have accepted bids and one more will be selected. The others are: Dick Fend, Northwestern, end; Marshall Wells, Minnesota, tackle; Gregory Kabat, Wisconsin, guard; John Ochler, Purdue, center; Ernest (Pug) Renner, Northwestern, a member of the 1931 All-America, and Gilbert Berry, Illinois, halfbacks, and Roy Horstmann, Purdue, fullback.

The remaining place will be filled after Andy Kerr of Colgate picks eleven stars from the east for the squad, depending on which position needs strengthening.

The next year the British had to send to the Navy for anchors for that famous horse. They loaded as much as 145 pounds on him and he liked it. Finally he got to carrying battleships on his back so they sent him back to the most lenient United States to save the large buildings in London and that isn't all—

"He got back in September. And three days after the canoe docked, old Parole raced in New York and won, going away."

"Climate, mud, weight, turf tracks, sea voyages, didn't mean a thing. He had a heart, a great ticker, that's what Parole had. But wait—after two more years of going, he up one day and decided he would run no more. And he didn't."

And it ought to be easy for you to see why he wouldn't.

Midwestern Stars To Play On Coast
Chicago, Dec. 5—(AP)—Three 1932 All-American football stars from the midwest have accepted invitations from Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern to play in the annual Shrine Hospital benefit game at San Francisco on January 2.

The All-Americans are Paul Moss of Purdue, end; Joe Kurth of Notre Dame, tackle and Harry Newman of Michigan quarterback. Seven others have accepted bids and one more will be selected. The others are: Dick Fend, Northwestern, end; Marshall Wells, Minnesota, tackle; Gregory Kabat, Wisconsin, guard; John Ochler, Purdue, center; Ernest (Pug) Renner, Northwestern, a member of the 1931 All-America, and Gilbert Berry, Illinois, halfbacks, and Roy Horstmann, Purdue, fullback.

The remaining place will be filled after Andy Kerr of Colgate picks eleven stars from the east for the squad, depending on which position needs strengthening.

QUICK PICK-UP FOR HARDWARE TRADE SURPRISE

Associated Business
Papers Report For Last Month

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Among the bright spots seen in the present industrial horizon by the Associated Business Papers, Inc., after parsing reports from 115 business magazine editors, was an unexpectedly quick pick-up during November in hardware retail sales.

The report covers the fortnight ended Dec. 1. It found a "few small advances and a number of slight recessions, following the November elections." But the sudden descent of retail buyers upon the nation's hardware stores was described as one of the most interesting instances of public buying power finding an unexpected outlet.

November construction records show that non-residential building had surpassed October while residential building equaled the October rate. Public works and utility construction represented about half the monthly total of new building.

Hotel owners also found some sustenance for their faith in the future. The steady deflation of room rentals appeared to have reached something like rock-bottom.

Shoe sales were holding up with a year ago, and manufacturers were said to be laying plans well in advance of next summer to coax more buying from the general public. Considerable money will be spent on advertising.

Cement production showed the usual decline of late November when road building normally slackens but the fewer orders received by the industry were so well distributed throughout the country that several plants reopened, reemploying 900 men.

COMPLETION OF CHANUTE FIELD TO BE DEMANDED

Illinois Congressman To Push For Some Action At Once

Washington, Dec. 5 —(AP)—The matter of retaining the Air Corps technical school at Chanutte Field, near Rantoul, Ill., became a matter of renewed interest today as Congress reconvened for its "lame duck" session.

Congressmen of the Illinois delegation said they were determined that the money appropriated last session for the construction of permanent quarters on the field be released for immediate use.

While a Construction Quarter-master, Capt. Williams, has been on the Illinois post field for several months for the purpose of completing preparatory plans necessary to the erection of new buildings, Rep. Charles Adkins of Decatur, Ill., declared he had been unable to direct when actual construction operations would be started.

"Perhaps this means," he added, "that the War Department is going back to their old idea of moving the technical school to Dayton, Ohio. They have scared us with that idea so often and for such a long time that I've just about given up."

Adkins explained that a fund of $337,000 was long ago made available for the erection of non-commissioned officers' quarters and a central heating plant. In addition there have been other appropriations, running into a half million, he said, for further construction.

Money Set Aside

"All of this has been actually set aside by Congress. It should have been spent long ago. Congress doesn't seem to have enough control over the War Department, it appears."

Fred A. Britten of Chicago, a member of the House Naval Affairs committee, agrees with Adkins. He adds:

"It's the same old proposition of Congress setting aside money for much needed improvements, and the government refusing to spend it."

Both Adkins and Britten are Republican members of the House but Adkins was defeated for reelection last November and will relinquish his seat to D. C. Dobbin of Champaign, Ill., a Democrat.

Adkins speaks rather bitterly of his experience in pushing construction of Chanutte Field.

"When the war came along," he said, "the government decided they wanted an air field at Rantoul. The people of eastern central Illinois obtained the property the War Department designated. Those same people worked unselfishly to assume the maintenance of that field."

"Ideal Location"

"Chanutte Field was, the war officials said, an ideal location for a flying field—and yet, a few years later, they decided to move the technical school to Dayton for the purposes of efficiency. They said they didn't like the field. I insisted then, and I still insist, that if Chanutte Field was good enough during the war, it's good enough now."

"For that reason I've worked as hard as anyone else to get appropriations through Congress for the purpose of erecting permanent buildings there. The money has been made available, and still the War Department delays actual construction. Does all of this mean that the War Department intends to wait until after the change of administration and then move the technical school to Dayton?"

Congressman-at-Large William H. Dieterich of Beardstown, Ill., and the Democratic Senator-elect from his state, declares that the retention of the air school at Rantoul is not a matter of politics.

"If the money is appropriated, it should be spent," he said. "Chanutte Field is a good flying field. It should be kept at Rantoul. I intend to do all I can to see that the money already appropriated is expended as soon as it is possible."

Fatal Blast Wrecks New Church

An explosion that killed one man and critically injured another left this wreckage of the new $150,000 First Methodist church at Montgomery, Ala. The edifice was nearing completion when Fred Miller, assistant city engineer, and an electrician started their inspection. Miller was killed.

Singer Doggedly Denies Romance

Engaged? Not a bit of it. Why, she isn't even in love! So declared Rosa Ponselle, famous operatic star, when she returned to New York from an European trip and posed like this with "Whiskers." The shaggy pup is her very best friend, said the singer, while denying the rumors of a romance abroad.

MUSIC BECOMES FEATURE JAMES REVIVAL HERE

Chicago—The memory of Father Marquette, who, records show, was the first European to visit the site of what is now Chicago, was extolled by Representatives of the church, city, France and Chicago Historical Society in special exercises.

Chicago—It doesn't always pay to be an innocent bystander at a fight. Merle Lowman found out. Lowman, held in the slaying of Henry Shoop, Wibaux, Mont., cattleman, got caught in the crossfire of fists in a fight among inmates of his county jail cell and was the most severely hurt of all. Police said he wasn't even involved in the argument.

Chicago—J. Walton Ward, alias Charles J. Ward, got away from Joliet officials who apprehended him, so when Chicago police captured him they rushed him directly to Jacksonville, Ill., where he faces charges of defrauding a widow out of $2,000 in a real estate deal.

Chicago—Miss Mildred Brazen dropped off into a faint when two bandits ordered her to open the safe of a dress shop of which she is cashier. But it took more than that to frighten them off. They threw a pail of water on her and revived her. Then they left—taking $514 with them, however.

Springfield—The fate of Russell Williams, 18-year-old convicted slayer of a street car motorman and under death sentence, was to be in the hands of the state Supreme Court this week for the second time. Attorney Clarence Darrow obtained the review after interesting himself in the case.

Chicago — Ransom M. Calkins, who rose from the position of telegrapher of the Milwaukee Railroad to vice president, died at his winter home in Daytona Beach, Fla.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

We have dealt very corruptly against thee, and have not kept the commandments, nor the statutes, nor the judgments, which thou commandedst thy servant Moses.—Nehemiah 1:7.

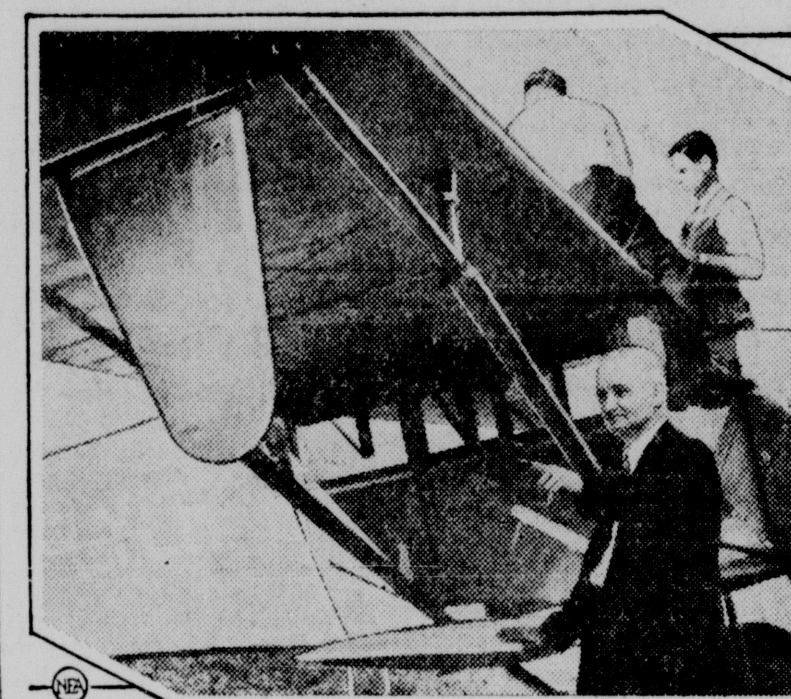

If thou wouldst be justified, acknowledge thy injustice; he that confesses his sin begins his journey toward salvation; he that is sorry for it mends his pace; he that forsakes it is at his journey's end.—Quarles.

Swift Heiresses Make Their Debut to Society

Two daughters of the Swift packing family of Chicago made their debut when Lydia, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alden B. Swift, and Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus B. Swift, were presented to society together. Cousins, they have been chums since childhood. Their fathers are officials of the packing company bearing their name.

Another "Foolproof" Plane

The latest "foolproof" airplane to be demonstrated is that of Dr. C. H. Vance of Pomona, Calif. Vance is shown above pointing to an odd vane, erected on each side of the plane, which is said to hold the plane on a level course. Experiments showed that the plane could not be forced into a tail spin, side slip or power dive without being immediately righted by the vanes. They are said to be of great value in blind flying in foggy weather.

Half time boosters don't do much for their city.

It takes full-time boosters to do something.

New industries seeking a location are always influenced greatly by the evidence of support and encouragement shown industries already located in a city.

Most cities have men of the type that make a city better; men of high ideals who are willing at all times to labor for the public good, who believe in a square deal for all, believe in their city and its future and practice what they believe.

These men do all in their power to encourage and develop to a high degree of efficiency every movement for the betterment of their city.

They are the men who have kept their money at home—spent it at home, or invested it in home industries.

These men are a big asset to their city. People have confidence in their integrity; they are leaders.

Every city must have leaders and the citizens should follow their leaders.

Cities that are on their way will get somewhere by following this class of leaders.

Counterfeiters Land In Hands Of Officers

Chicago, Dec. 5 —(AP)— Secret service agents found $45,000 in counterfeit currency Saturday in safety deposit boxes of a loop bank. The seizure, which included also a number of plates for the manufacture of spurious money, was the largest in years.

Two brothers were held. Edward Molnar, 28, an alien, was arrested in Omaha, Neb., several days ago and his confession to federal officers there resulted in the apprehension of John Molnar, 33, in Chicago and the discovery of keys to the three safety deposit boxes.

Gold and genuine currency totaling $4,000, apparently part of the proceeds of the passing of the bogus notes, also was found.
